

Does Larry D. Harper ("Voice of Elijah") claim to be uniquely a discloser of "The mysteries of the apostolic Teachings" and called to restore the "oral teachings of Moses" in these last days?

Key Points

- Yes, Larry D. Harper (known through "The Voice of Elijah") explicitly claims to be uniquely called by God to disclose the mysteries of the apostolic Teachings.
- He presents these mysteries as the restored "oral teachings of Moses" (an oral Torah delivered alongside the written Torah at Mount Sinai).
- He frames his calling as fulfilling the role of the prophesied "Elijah" who restores truth in the last days, preparing true believers for the Second Coming and the Antichrist.
- These claims are made in his own writings, books, newsletters, and on the official Voice of Elijah website, with no indication that anyone else shares this role.

Who is Larry D. Harper?

Larry Dee Harper is the founder of The Elijah Project and The Voice of Elijah®, a nonprofit ministry established in 1988. A Vietnam veteran with advanced degrees in biblical Hebrew, and Near Eastern studies, he states he received a direct calling from God on August 17, 1966. Since then, he has dedicated his work to biblical